The Comprehensive Credit Repair Process

1. Credit Report Analysis

The first step in credit repair is a thorough analysis of your credit reports from the three major credit bureaus: Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. Paru and her team will meticulously review your reports, identifying any errors, inaccuracies, or outdated information that may be negatively impacting your credit score.

2. Dispute Resolution

Once errors and inaccuracies are identified, Paru will guide you through the process of disputing them with the credit bureaus. She will provide you with customized dispute letters that clearly outline the errors and provide supporting documentation to strengthen your case.

3. Creditor Negotiations

In some cases, it may be necessary to negotiate with creditors to remove negative items from your credit report. Paru has established relationships with creditors and collection agencies, enabling her to negotiate favorable settlements on your behalf.

4. Credit Building Strategies

Beyond dispute resolution, Paru will work with you to develop personalized credit building strategies to improve your credit score over time. These strategies may include obtaining secured credit cards, becoming an authorized user on someone else's credit card, or taking out a credit-builder loan.

5. Credit Monitoring and Support

Once your credit score has improved, Paru will continue to monitor your credit reports and provide ongoing support to ensure that your progress is sustained. She will also educate you on best credit practices to help you maintain a healthy credit profile in the long run.
