How to Play

The goal of the game is to match the Chinese characters with their corresponding English translations. The game is played on a 4x4 grid, with each square containing a Chinese character and an English translation. To match a pair, simply click on the two squares that contain the matching characters. If you make a match, the squares will disappear and you will earn points. The game ends when all of the squares have been matched.

Punches

In addition to the memory game, the app also includes a section on boxing punches. This section teaches you the basic punches of boxing, including the jab, the cross, the hook, and the uppercut. Each punch is explained in detail, with step-by-step instructions and video demonstrations. You can also practice your punches against a computer-controlled opponent.

Combos

Once you've mastered the basic punches, you can start learning combinations. Combinations are two or more punches that are thrown together in a sequence. The app includes a library of common boxing combinations, which you can practice against a computer-controlled opponent. You can also create your own combinations and share them with other users.

Sparring

Once you're feeling confident in your skills, you can put them to the test in the sparring section of the app. Sparring is a simulated boxing match against a computer-controlled opponent. You can choose the difficulty of your opponent, and you can even create your own custom opponent. Sparring is a great way to practice your skills and improve your timing and accuracy.
